

QT Symbol Changes – effective July 6, 2008

Beginning Sunday, July 6th the following symbol changes will be made. We are making these changes so that our symbols more closely match the CME's ticker symbols. While we realize that there is a near-term effort to make the change, in the long term, the result will be a more usable system.

QT subscribers using the current contract symbol listed below only need to save their settings before Friday, July 4th.

To automatically receive the updated symbols, subscribers should login & load settings from the SERVER beginning Sunday, July 6th

For reference the contracts listed below are changing.
